

1. immortal rain

She said in a tongue of acceptance that we no longer exist and by doing that to my soul to be remembrance I dry all my tears, forggotten in what we resist to relive our immortal souls in deliverance forgetting why dreamt all the Universe in what were remembered persists.

I shall say my immortal would do you choose my way There a heavy rain beatin'up all day and my sorrows have increased I shall say my immortal in such a way the words pleased how are we far away as rain crying disbelieved for what I remember is deep freezed in my soul and that night would last forever if we dont grasp a winding hand to hold Its so cold that all my tears dry over her and in my bed all a I remember whats no longer here
